

JunHe houses a highly regarded team with a well-rounded practice covering both international and local tax regulations and reforms.

——Chambers Greater China Region

Tax Law

JunHe is one of the few domestic law firms to provide legal services relating to tax law. As Chinese tax jurisprudence evolves to be increasingly more sophisticated, intricate and developed, tax law has become an important area of practice for JunHe. We offer a team of attorneys with extensive practical experience and solid legal knowledge in tax law.

Our Team

JunHe's tax law team is composed of a senior practitioner who has led the market for years and several promising rising stars. Our team includes a former official of the State Administration of Taxation, lawyers from premier international and domestic law firms, and a researcher from a well-known finance and taxation institution. Together, they offer clients unparalleled strength in reading the subtext of macro policies, finely honed skills in analyzing practical issues, solid theoretical knowledge, extensive experience, strong communication skills, and solution-oriented approaches.

JunHe, founded in Beijing in 1989, is one of the first private partnership law firms in China. Since its establishment, JunHe has grown to be a large and recognized Chinese law firm. The firm has twelve offices around the world and a team comprised of more than a thousand professionals.

Based on our outstanding track record and stellar reputation, we are consistently recognized as a Band 1 and Top-tier Recommendation law firm in the practice of tax law in China by Chambers Asia-Pacific and Asia Pacific Legal 500, respectively.

JunHe LLP's Tax practice team distinguishes itself by their proficiency in PRC's taxation regulatory scheme and capability of tailoring their legal service to meet the client's expectation.

—The Legal 500

Key Practice Areas

- Tax law consultancy, including issues concerning the application of tax laws and/or tax treaties to domestic and overseas mergers, reorganizations of resident enterprises, cross-border transactions, offshore transactions carried out by resident enterprises, and daily business operations, including enterprise income tax, value added tax, business tax, individual income tax, employee stock ownership plans, and stock options;
- Tax dispute resolution, including liaising with taxation officials, responding to tax audits, and pursuing taxpayers' rights and interests;
- Other legal services, including tax due diligence and investigation, tax filings for indirect transfer of Chinese taxable property, and other tax-related consultations;
- Customs consultancy, including advice on customs laws and regulations on imports and exports, customs laws on bonded processing and bonded logistics, value added tax and consumption tax on imports, customs anti-smuggling investigations, and customs-related laws and regulations.

PRC Firm of the Year in Tax
2015

China Law & Practice Awards

Law Firms of the Year - Taxation
2015, 2014, 2013

China Business Law Awards

China Best Domestic Law Firms, Corporate Tax, Leading
2015

*Leaders League, International Corporate
Finance: Mergers & Acquisitions, Private Equity,
Corporate Tax, Antitrust*

A Leading Tax Firm
2015

International Tax Review

Tax Law Firm of the Year
2014

ALB China Law Awards

A Perfect Combination of International Vision and Domestic Experience

Having represented diverse international clients for decades, JunHe's tax law team possesses a profound understanding of business needs and international mindsets. The team has maintained long-term working relationships with the public finance, tax and customs departments of the Chinese government. This helps us keep abreast of the latest developments in, and accurately understand and interpret, PRC laws and policies on tax and customs. Our tax specialists are regularly invited by international organizations, renowned multinational corporations and universities to speak at tax conferences and training seminars.