Data Privacy, Cybersecurity and Information Law

As modern internet and mobile technologies rapidly evolve, the protection of cybersecurity, data, and personal information has become a key concern for successful businesses. Domestic and overseas clients doing business in China as well as Chinese companies expanding business into foreign countries are paying close attention to issues related to cybersecurity and data compliance. We provide comprehensive compliance solutions regarding cybersecurity, privacy and information protection for our clients in different industries, such as traditional manufacturing, life sciences and healthcare, consumer goods, traffic management, credit investigation, advertising, education, telecommunications, media technologies, big data and cloud computing, AI, and financial technologies, etc. We also keep up with the latest technology and carry out research on the potential legal issues that may arise. Based on our knowledge of legislation and market practice, we are dedicated to providing our clients with practical advice in this field under the current legal environment.

Our Team

We have a keen-witted and capable team that tracks, studies and advises on cybersecurity, privacy and data protection issues. They not only focus on Chinese developments of data protection, but also take a global perspective and pay attention to the latest developments in other jurisdictions. Meanwhile, data compliance related issues are not standalone and are often relevant with other legal fields, such as labor law, corporate law, IP and litigation, etc. Based on our existing expertise and cooperation with experts in these fields, we are able to grasp the key concerns of our clients, and provide clear, accurate and practicable advice at times when coming across relatively vague issues. We provide creative value-added services for our clients by paying close attention to new legislation, and we are well informed regarding legislative trends and their impacts on business.
